SUMMARY

A full-stack web developer with a background in networking offering experience in the development of advanced applications. Recently earning a certificate in Full-Stack Web Development from the University of Texas at Austin with skills in React.js, JavaScript, and MongoDB. Known to deliver forward-thinking projects in an efficient manner with a strong focus on user experience and ease of interaction. Applied complex user to server interactions through web sockets to a recent social application project that allowed users to communicate in real time and customize personal lobbies. Eager to apply my skills to an accelerated and solution-oriented team to create impactful applications.
